

Will Duke Energy kill North Carolina's growing solar industry?

Important solar energy legislation is being debated in North Carolina.

Our state needs policies that promote solar power and competition.

Every new solar panel helps all of us by creating jobs, cutting pollution, and eliminating Duke Energy's case to continually raise rates to build expensive power plants we don't even need.

Over 86% of NC voters – across the political spectrum – support policies promoting solar power.*

But Duke Energy is using its corporate muscle to limit the growth of solar.

North Carolina needs electricity competition, not Duke Energy's gluttonous monopoly.
