

Is Duke Energy devouring North Carolina?

Who's really governing this state?

Governor Pat McCrory worked at Duke Energy for 28 years. He owns a large amount of Duke Energy stock, but won't say how much.

Senate Bill 10 would allow Governor McCrory to totally stack the Utilities Commission in Duke Energy's favor.

With Governor McCrory's personal fortune directly linked to Duke's profits, his conflict of interest is unprecedented.

Duke is already raising electricity rates repeatedly to build dirty power plants that North Carolina doesn't even need – costing us billions of dollars.

The last thing we need is a Utilities Commission that's even more Duke-friendly.

CALL GOVERNOR McCRORY at 800.662.7952 or 919.733.5811 – or email him: governor.office@nc.gov

- Urge him to come clean: How much Duke Energy stock does he still own?
- Urge him to establish an independent Blue Ribbon panel to appoint members to the Utilities Commission.

Duke Energy's monopoly control over our electricity future is disastrous for our economy and disastrous for our climate.

Pat McCrory needs to be Governor for the People, not for Duke Energy.
